Project Narrative:

The goal of this submission is to complete the eastern entry feature into downtown Scottsdale.

The use of a bronze at this location as the city art portion of this project was discussed in concept and approved with the original submission of this project.

The work is to be a bronze monument of Mr. Charles Miller, one of the early city leaders. He owned the 120 acres at the northwest corner of Indian School Road and Miller Road. Miller Road is named after him. He was instrumental in bringing electricity to Scottsdale.

All landscape, hardscape, finish materials, colors and textures were approved with the original approval.

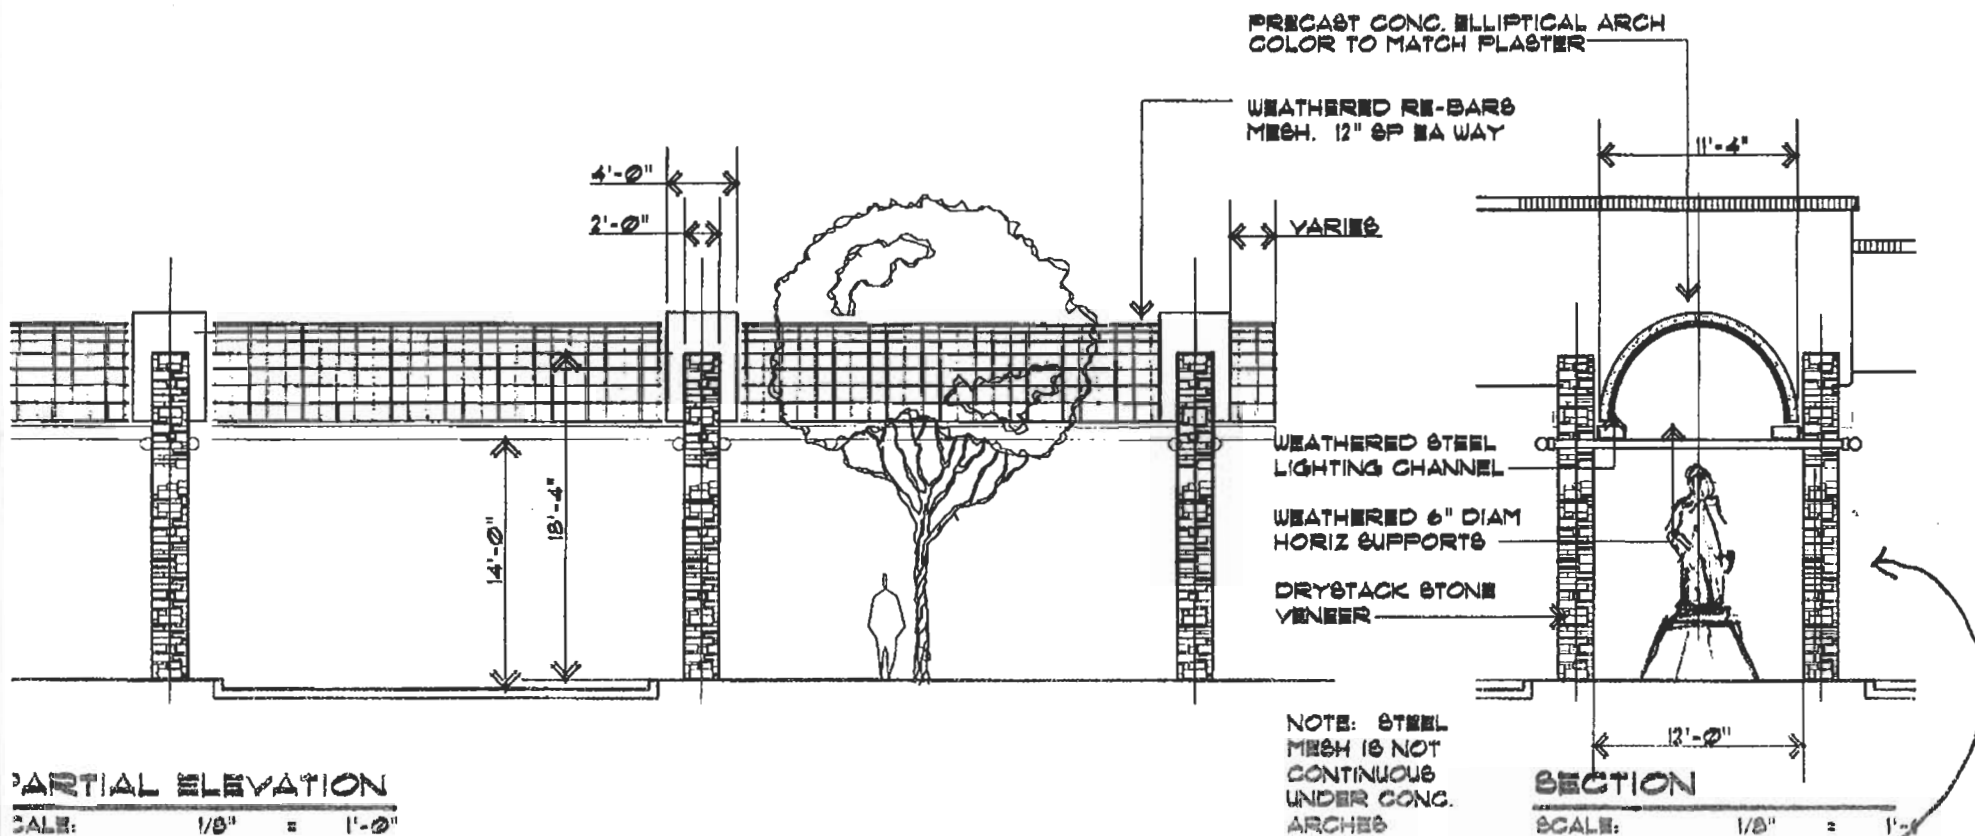

This application is for the statue only.

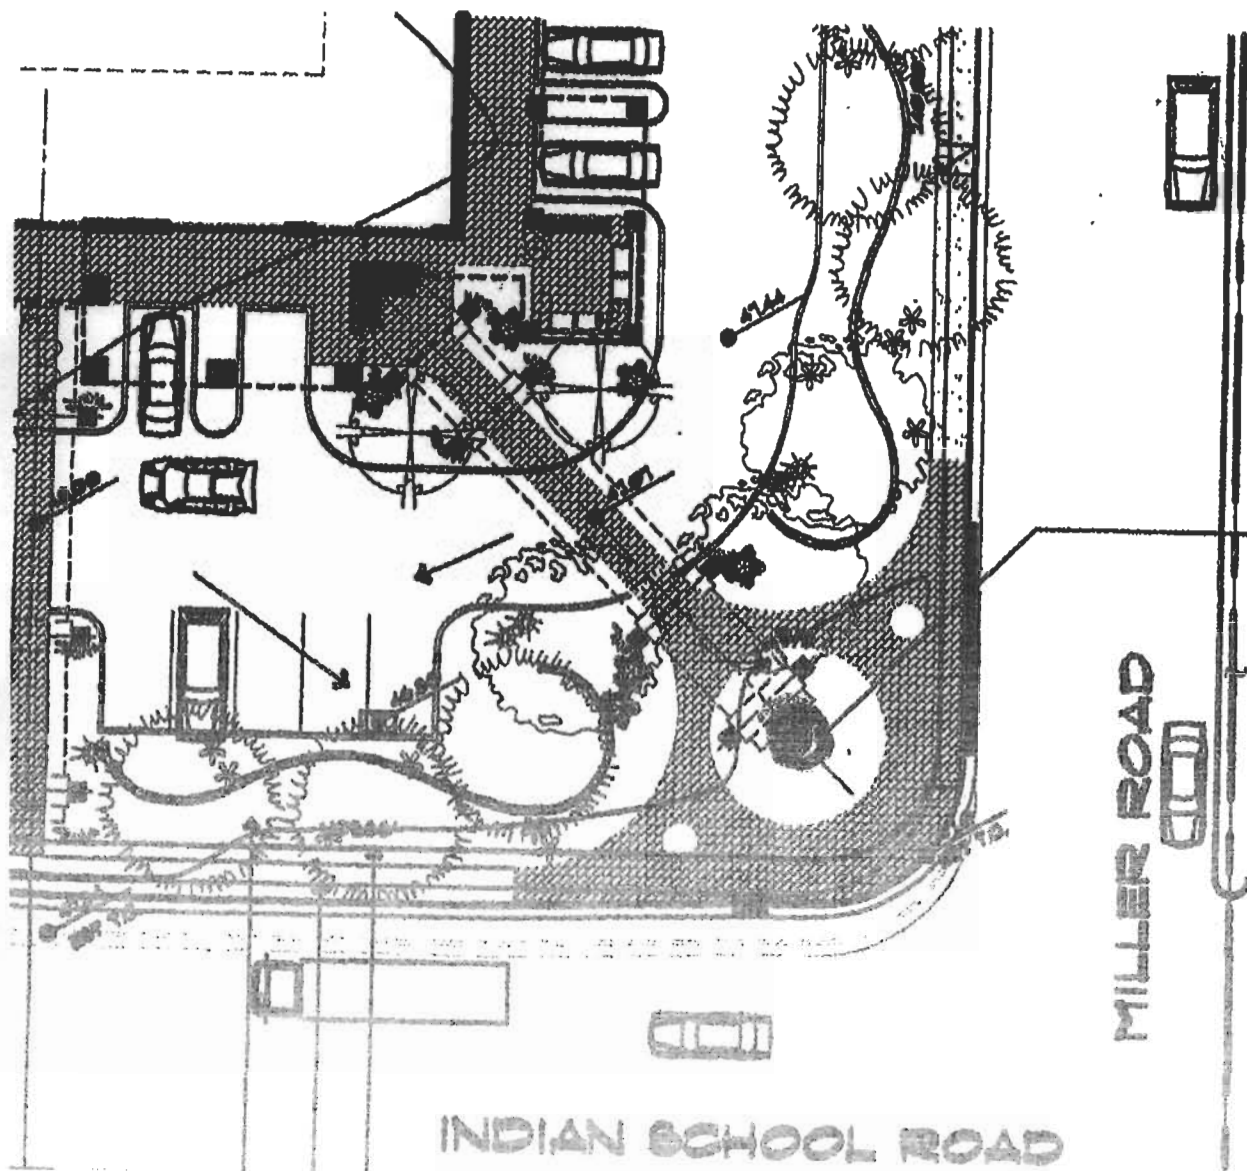

Attached please find sketches of this work.
